

Lecture Series in Research Methodology and Methods in Social Sciences & Humanities:

“Doing Sociology: Methods and Imaginations”

Speaker: Prof. Surendra Singh Jodhka
Professor of Sociology, JNU Delhi

Prof. Surendra Jodhka is a renowned Indian sociologist specialising in Social Stratification, Development Studies, Rural and Agrarian Change, Social Identities, and Caste Studies. He has held various visiting positions at the University of Lund, Sweden; University of Bergen, Norway; University of Wisconsin, Madison, USA; University of Oxford, UK and Queen's University of Belfast, UK. He is the author of several books. His recent books include The Indian Village: Rural Lives in the 21st Century (2023), Handbook of Rural India, A (PB): Readings on the Economy, Polity and Society (2018), The Oxford Handbook of Caste (2023), and Agrarian change in India (Readings on the Economy, Polity and Society) (2022). Prof. Jodhka has received the prestigious ICSSR-Amartya Sen Award for Distinguished Social Scientist (Sociology) 2012.

Hosted by: School of Humanities and Social Sciences, IIT Indore

Venue: SHSS Seminar Hall
(POD 1C-301)

09th February 2024
11:30 AM onwards